

Four Students Elected To Phi Beta Kappa Here

Three Pre-Meds and Classics Man Picked

By PAUL TERRY

Four students have qualified scholastically and have been elected to the Phi Beta Kappa chapter of the College, it was announced last night by Dr. John E. Candelet, Secretary of the honorary fraternity.

Those elected were Harold Katzman, David M. Geetter, James R. Hoffman, all seniors, and Peter M. Norman, a second-term senior.

In order to qualify for Phi Beta Kappa, each of the first three mentioned above maintained an 89 average during their first six semesters. In the case of second-term seniors, which includes men who enter the college in February of their freshman year, the qualification requirement is less stringent. These men must attain an average of 86 over a period of seven semesters. In addition to the scholastic requirements, candidates for Phi Beta Kappa must show the personal attributes of good character and leadership ability.

Harold Katzman is a pre-med student who has been a three-time winner of the Holland Scholarship Award. During his first year here he won the freshman prize in mathematics, and was elected a member of Pi Gamma Mu, an honorary physics fraternity. He is a member of the Brownell Club and of the Hillel Society; also, he has recently been accepted at the Jefferson Medical School in Philadelphia.

David M. Geetter, also a member of the Brownell Club, has been active in organizing the college band, and has won academic scholarships here for the past two years. He is a member of the Hillel Society, and has been accepted at the Jefferson Medical School.

Senate Talks Over Finances

Special Assistant to the President of the College John Mason spoke before the Senate Monday night in regard to "Class Day" for the seniors next June.

Mason complained that attendance for the past several years has been alarmingly low and that the situation has embarrassed the College administration. Mason produced a photo taken at last year's "Class Day" in which only the Corporal's Guard and several parents were in attendance. The event, held on Saturday morning before Commencement, featured the Chaplain of the U.S. House of Representatives as speaker. A special committee headed by President of the Senior class Dave Roberts was appointed to change the date or otherwise rectify the situation.

A balance of "about $25" was reported owed the Senate by the Inter-Fraternity Council. Senator Bob Sind (Off-Campus) said that the treasurer of the IFC, Lee Lahey (DKE), reported to him that the IFC could pay only $275 of a $300 bill owed the Senate. The bill is for the College Handbook, a publication being jointly financed by the Senate and the IFC. Each is paying $300. Debate followed the announcement with possible recourse being the following items: (1) Ask that the IFC square the bill, (2) pay the bill out of the Senate fund, or (3) tax the Brownell Club. The last suggestion was deemed probable only because the Brownell Club had not been assessed for the publication. Debate was continued until next week.

Treasurer Bob Sind reported that the Senate has a balance of $356.10 in the treasury.

Jesters Finish All Rehearsals For Fall Play

Tomorrow at 8:15 is opening night for the Jesters' production of "The Adding Machine." Featured in the cast are Tom Bolger, as Mr. Zero, and Tanya List, as his effervescent wife. Tom was seen as Nimmo last spring in "Key Largo." Tanya, who is now taking up television workshop at Hillier College, has also previously been with the Jesters.

Playing the role of the Boss is Bill Gnichtel, who is acting for the first time with the Jesters. The roles of Messrs. 1-6 are enacted by Ike Lasher, Rem Rose, Pete Fish, Rus Jones, Paul Kennedy, and Charles Stehle. Kathy Jarvis, sister of Art Jarvis in PKA, Dorothy Newton, Margaret O'Neill, Joan Jacobson, Elaine McCarthy, and Mickie Bassell are their respective wives. Other local girls in the play are Evelyn Plympton as Daisy and Shirley Dawson as Judy.

Two other men who will be seen again are Clay Stevens as Lieutenant Charles, and Dick Blye, as the policeman.

President Stevens has been acting with the Jesters since his freshman year. He starred in "Oedipus Rex" his sophomore year and had featured roles in "Key Largo" and "Misalliance" last year. Dick, this year's vice-president, joined the organization last year, was stage manager for "Key Largo," and starred as Lord Summerhays in the "Misalliance."

Business Manager Bill O'Hara appears for the first time as The Head. Also for their first roles John Woodward, Brooks Baker, and David Ralston enact Shrdlu, Joe, and the Young Man respectively.

Nine Students Attend Forum

Nine members of Professor Ferwerda's government classes attended the Herald Tribune Forum in New York City on October 18th and 19th. These annual forums are sponsored by the Tribune as an effort to bring issues of national importance to an invited audience consisting of representatives from 250 schools and 300 national, local, and international organizations.

The topic of the two-session, two-day forum was "The Progress of Freedom in the U. S." The first session was held in the Hunter College Auditorium and was concerned with "Steps Toward Racial Integration." Thomas E. Dewey, Governor of New York, officially opened the twenty-third forum with a speech emphasizing the challenges to freedom in the U. S.

The second session of the forum was at the elaborate grand ballroom of the Waldorf Astoria. The subject was "New Objectives in Government." Allen Dulles, Director of the Central Intelligence Agency, was the first speaker.

The highlight of the forum was the questioning of four cabinet members by four interrogators. The cabinet members were Ovetta Culp Hobby, George M. Humphries, James P. Mitchell, Secretaries of Health, Education and Welfare, Treasury and Labor, as well as Attorney General Herbert Brownell. Finally, Lewis Strauss, Atomic Energy Commissioner, was questioned by Thomas Finkletter, former Secretary of the Air Force.

U. S. attitude toward India should be "one of hopefulness, for our greatest mistake is to be stand-offish."

The meeting then turned into an informal question-and-answer period. Diverting from the topic of foreign policy, Dodd was asked what he considered to be the main issues of the present campaign. In his opinion the main issue is the present unemployment figure. "The present administration

Thirteen Seniors to Be in "Who's Who"

Frosh - Soph Tussle To Be Held Saturday

The first annual freshman-sophomore tug of war will be held this Saturday during half-time ceremonies of the Amherst game. Under the sponsorship of the Medusa, the inter-class battle will determine whether the freshmen have the right to discard their beanies and other subversive duties imposed by the Sophomore class.

Dean Clarke in commenting upon the impending fight remarked: "Back in the old days these scraps were pretty gory affairs. One year, in a charge during the flag contest, six men had to be treated at Hartford Hospital. We don't expect any blood to flow this year, but all in all it should be fairly spectacular."

Complaints have been heard that the Homecoming weekend was selected for the scrap because freshman football and soccer teams would be out of town. Informed sources in the sophomore class refused to comment.

Dr. Jacobs Appoints New Band Director

In an effort to reorganize and develop the college band, President Jacobs has appointed Willard B. Green, instrumental instructor and band director at Bulkeley High School, as director of the college musical organization. Mr. Green is recognized as a leading school bandmaster, his units having won top honors in state and national competitions.

Among the first projects Mr. Green plans to undertake will be reorganizing the band into a concert outfit. This means the unit will have to be enlarged, trained in orchestration, and taught basic marching procedures.

Active Campus Figures Picked

BY THOMAS ULLMANN

Thirteen seniors were accepted this week into the ranks of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, it was announced by Dean Hughes late last week. All the seniors named were well-known on campus through their various extra-curricular activities and accomplishments.

Those named were John H. Callen, Wade Close, Philip Craig, A. High Dickenson, Edgar Lindenmeyer, George Lunt, Louis Magelaner, David Roberts, Henry Scheinberg, Robert Sind, Clay Stephens, Thomas Ullmann, and Lance Vars.

Callen is a member of Delta Psi, the Medusa, the varsity soccer and baseball teams, and is secretary of the IFC, and past president of the Interfraternity Council. Close, a member of Alpha Delta Phi, is captain of the varsity soccer team, on the Medusa, captain of the squash team, member of the tennis team and on the IFC. He is also senior class secretary.

Craig, of Alpha Delta Phi, is co-captain of the tennis team, an officer of his fraternity, past president of the sophomore class, and a letterman in squash.

Dickenson, Alpha Chi Rho, is president of the Glee Club, a member of the Pipes, the Canterbury Club, and the Medusa. Lindenmeyer, also of Alpha Chi Rho, is president of his fraternity, a past president of the Sophomore Dining Club, and a member of the varsity football and track teams.

Lunt is vice-president of the senior class, a member of ADP, the Medusa, the varsity soccer team, and secretary of the Senate. Magelaner is president

Dodd Claims Truman Foreign Policy Still Being Followed

BY PETER FISH

"The foreign policy of the Eisenhower administration has, in a large part, extended from an established policy of the Truman administration," said Congressman Tom Dodd at a meeting of the Young Democrats in Goodwin Lounge last Tuesday evening.

The Democratic Representative from the First District of Connecticut came to the college for a discussion of U.S. foreign policy. Congressman Dodd found fault with the policy in that it was not bi-partisan enough. He said "This administration must invite the views of accepted and qualified men of the Democratic party." He pointed out that John Foster Dulles had been consulted frequently and had been influential in the formulation of some of the treaties accomplished under the administrations of F.D.R. and Truman.

Concerning our attitude toward the various trouble spots of the world, Mr. Dodd had this to say: "In Formosa it is absolutely necessary to support Chiang Kai-shek to the hilt, rather than lose any more ground." He also claimed that the consequences of the Indo-China situation were grave and that we have not yet arrived at a solution. He added that the U.S. cannot continue to capitulate to the Communists. In conclusion he said the

Professor R. K. Morris Chosen Brownell Faculty Advisor

Because of the vacancy left when Dr. Reid Shaw was forced to retire for reasons of health, Dr. Richard K. Morris has consented to act as faculty advisor for the Brownell Club.

Dr. Morris is a Trinity graduate of the class of 1940. He held the Edward Flagg Scholarship here from 1938 to 1940. After leaving Trinity, he went to Yale, where he earned his Ph.D. for work in Education and Philosophy.

After graduating from Yale, Dr. Morris taught for five years in both public and private secondary schools. He also worked on the staff of the Connecticut Education Association. In 1951 he returned to Trinity to teach in the Education Department, where he is now an Assistant Professor. He has published "Midyear Report: Conn. Education" and "The Groton Story" both for The Connecticut Teacher.

The professor enjoys two hobbies, the study of astronomy and painting. Fine evidence of the latter can be found on the walls of his apartment near the campus. He also has to his credit the assembly of a telescope worth several hundred dollars.

As faculty advisor, Dr. Morris will attend all business meetings of the Brownell Club and will act as a liaison between the club and the faculty.

RUSHING

In the Williams Record of October 30 we note that that college has taken an important step towards a situation that the Tripod has long advocated. That is the shifting of deferred rushing from the fall of the sophomore year to the second semester of the freshman year. In an all-college vote the students of Williams passed the measure 359 to 183.

This subject has been much discussed informally, but little serious attention has been given it. Obviously there are several physical problems to be overcome, but we believe that the final result of a student body that is on equal ground socially, for at least half the year, would be a more tightly knit and homogeneous group than could be achieved in any other way. It would also strengthen the bond between the members of the various fraternities with the additional time of active membership.

Some of the physical problems that would have to be faced before such a plan could be adopted at Trinity will be discussed later in these columns when space permits.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

To the Editor of the Tripod:

Having lived under an honor system in preparatory school, I feel that it is my duty to write a reply to Mr. Winslow's letter, which appeared in the October 21st issue of the Tripod.

It is very nice to assume an idealistic view of things, but it is impossible to escape the cold, hard facts of life. There are people who cheat. Even Mr. Winslow acknowledges that fact. But what I don't understand, Mr. Winslow, is why you are so sure that a great deal of the "dishonest activity at Trinity" will be eliminated if an honor system is put into effect here. To my way of thinking, it would only be accelerated. With regard to the taking of examinations, for instance, if a student is bold enough to cheat in the faces of the ruthless proctors, would it not be an advantage, from his point of view, to have no proctors at all? Think of the worry and fear that he wouldn't have to face, under the honor system. How easy it would be for him to seat himself strategically, away from the professional busybodies, and cheat to his heart's content. Nobody relishes turning a classmate into the authorities, and most people won't do it!

Now, Mr. Winslow goes on to say that there would be a "carrying over of its (the honor system's, I presume) benefits to all facets of life." This remark, of course, can be taken in several ways, depending on one's interpretation of the word "benefits." He continues: "As the result of the institution of an honor system, Trinity will have taken another forward step in its modernization program. In keeping with the progress shown by both the library and the new freshman dormitory, we owe the inception of an honor system to the streamlining of our academic program." It seems to me that our main concern should be with the morals of people, rather than the structure of buildings. That is to say, we should try to select the best system to work by, and not necessarily the most modern. The honor system looks good to students, just as the fifth amendment looks good to Communists. Both are good in their theory, but both are there, just waiting to be abused.

Finally, I am highly amused at the final statement of the aforementioned letter, "We students have nothing to lose but our shackles." Just exactly what are these shackles? The only people who are shackled by the present system are those who are the offenders of the rules. However, I will grant Mr. Winslow and his system one concession, with respect to shackles. I must admit that it would be nice to be able to go to the bathroom during an examination without being accompanied by a proctor.

Sincerely,

John Hall, '57

THE FETID AIR

By OMAR ECKFORD

Hello dolts. We're back to regale you another week. We are beginning to doubt if it is really worth it, but we enjoy reading the Air ourselves.

As usual we are griping. It so worked out that after the football game this weekend we got an opportunity to talk to Coast Guard coach Nelson Nitchman. Mr. Nitchman hid his disappointment in losing the game bravely, but he did come out with a comment which he probably wouldn't have made if his club had won. He thought that the visiting team quarters in the Alumni Hall were about the most dismal he had ever seen. Remembering our own dismal P.E. days, we were very inclined to agree with him.

Stephen Potter in his Some Notes on Lifemanship devotes a chapter to what he calls Gamesmanship, or how to win games without actually cheating. Now there is a particular phase of Gamesmanship which comes to our mind, and that is the Gambit concerning the dirty locker room. Potter describes a setup much like the basement of Alumni Hall, only he includes a dirty sign over the cracked mirror and plugged sink which reads: "Please Leave This Place As You Would Like to See It," or something similar. This naturally takes the starch out of the most powerful of teams with a certain finesse. But the condition in lower Alumni lacks any sort of finesse and can only be described as disgusting. We of course, following our own train of thought, cannot advocate the slightest reconditioning, repainting, carpentering or even washing of the place. All we can do is suggest that a couple of those hard-working gentlemen who have been painting for three months on the Vernon Street gate be delegated by our favorite administrative department to make up a crudely lettered sign. Either that, or tear the damned building down.

We are glad to be able to report that America's foremost rural publication will be on the newsstands tomorrow. We are referring of course, to The Old Farmer's Almanac. We suppose that for the benefit of you slickers and furriners out of the midwest we had better give a short history of the publication.

The Farmer's Almanac (the "Old" was added later to distinguish it from imitations) was first published by Robert B. Thomas in 1792 for the year 1793. Mr. Thomas was a Sterling, Mass. bookseller who decided there was a need for continuity among the rural population and that he could put out a better publication than those which currently circulated for a sixpence. Since that year the Almanac has had the same cover format and same title page, though the yellow cover was introduced in 1893. The index includes such information as: Gestation Periods (p. 93), Recipes (pp. 41-64), Zodiac Signs (pp. 11, 37), as well as the well known Weather Forecast (pp. 13-35). To 163 years of country folk it has been a second bible, and rightly so.

We would like to pull a few quotes from the publicity release we received with our copy. This apology from the 1796 edition: "... the Author is under the necessity to apologize for the admission of some pieces of entertainment in his last year's Almanac, which was owing to his indulging the printer in that peculiar province, who took the liberty to retrench several useful matters to make room for a 'Sermon in favour of thieving', and several ludicrous anecdotes. ..."

1799: Wheat sown at this quarter of the moon (April 8) is said not to be subject to smutting.

1875: ... Want of light (in houses) stops growth, and promotes scrofula, rickets, &c., among the children. ...

1800: ... There is a family now living, who are able to ascertain that a goofe had been kept in the family 70 years—they know it must be still older, but they fix this particular period, as being able to prove it incontestably.

1800: The odor of the sweet pea is so offensive to flies that it will drive them out of the sick-room, though not in the slightest degree disagreeable to the patient.

These are but a few of the bits of information which we think have a certain charm and nostalgia, seldom found in modern print.

The Almanac has long been proud of its astounding success in weather prediction. This feature was omitted from the 1936 edition and readers "set up such a howl of protest the Publisher lived many a day of trying remorse." The present editor is Robb Sagendorph of Dublin, N. H., "Tel. 76 working hours, 117 all other hours, day or night."

Ballet at the Bushnell

By WILLIAM A. LOEB

Last Friday evening Hartford ballet lovers welcomed the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo to the Bushnell stage. They were treated to a performance of fine dancing and an interesting program, which consisted of Tschai-kowsky's Swan Lake, Cirque de Deux with music by Charles Gounod, The Mikado of Gilbert and Sullivan fame, and Jacques Offenbach's Gaite Parisienne.

In reality, only the second act of Swan Lake was given. In this scene, perhaps the most famous of the well-known ballet, the Prince, danced by Frederic Franklin, falls in love with the Queen of Swans, performed by Maria Tallchief, who has been transformed into a human. The performance last Friday night was rather mechanical and listless, with the exception of Miss Tallchief's enchanting grace. Mr. Franklin played his role admirably, but the performance of the quartet of swans had best be left unmentioned.

Cirque de Deux is an abstract ballet, and, as performed by the Ballet Russe, in an interesting work. Unfortunately, a revolving platform upon which the ballet was performed, was operated by hand, and the resulting confusion distracted a great deal from the dancing.

The Mikado provided the audience with a most fascinating adaption of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta. The delightful choreographic interpretation of Antonia Cobos must be commended. The story was well summarized in the program notes, which read as follows: "Katisha is betrothed to Nanki-Poo. Nanki-Poo is in love with Yum-Yum. Yum-Yum is betrothed to Ko-Ko. But it all works out in the end." Particularly outstanding were Victor Moreno as Ko-Ko, Joseph Savino as Nanki-Poo, Nina Borowska as Yum-Yum, and Frederic Franklin as Katiska. Special mention must be given to Bernard La Motte for his original and colorful costumes.

"Richard II" Tomorrow Night

A full-length film presentation of Shakespeare's Richard II starring Maurice Evans will be shown to-morrow night in the Chemistry Auditorium at 7:30 p. m. (Contrary to a report in this week's calendar, the film will be shown only once, at 7:30.) The movie, which was taken in television studios during a performance of the play, was obtained by the English department specifically for students in Eng. 381-382. Realizing, however, the obvious wide appeal of this seldom performed Shakespearean drama, the college has decided to offer a public presentation.

This film offers an unusual opportunity to witness the art of Maurice Evans. Perhaps one of the finest interpreters of the Bard today, Evans is best known for his "GI Hamlet," which was offered servicemen during the war. The performance of Richard II marked his second appearance before television cameras and well illustrates his smooth transition from the legitimate stage to more intimate sound stages. Evans' portrayal of the proud king is one of his most famous characterizations. He played the part in Margaret Webster's 1938 revival.

Newman Club Begins Year With Lectures

Father Theophil Mierzwinski spoke last night to the Newman Club on the topic of "What Think You of Christ?" He traced what other ages have thought of Christ through the Lives of Christ they have written.

The Newman club, under the guidance of Father Callahan, a teacher at St. Thomas Seminary, has announced its schedule for the year.

As in the past, meetings will be held on the first and third Tuesdays of every month at 8:00 p.m.

Jim Streeto, president of the organization, also announced that several innovations will be made. Among these is a lending library filled with philosophy, natural theology, fiction and general religious volumes that any student may either buy or borrow. At present, the selection is not complete.

Several dances with St. Joseph's College for Women are planned, as well as the annual trip to the Holy Family Monastery for a weekend sometime in February.

Foreign Policy Club To Hold Convention

Mr. Thomas E. Keena of the Hartford Courant will lead a meeting for the Foreign Policy Associations of Connecticut in Goodwin Lounge next Monday night. Nine schools will be represented, they are Trinity, Connecticut College for Women, Yale, Wesleyan, Hartford College, Hillyer, St. Joseph's, University of Connecticut and New Britain State Teachers' College. The meeting is being held to determine the topic, place and definite date for the annual Foreign Policy Conference.

Last year the conference was held at UConn and NATO was discussed, with the ambassador from the Netherlands to the United States as the main speaker. The conference was given extensive coverage by the Hartford Courant which also sponsors it.

At the regular meeting this Thursday, the Trinity Foreign Policy Association will have Andrew Spencer from Hillyer College as a speaker.

Placement Director Butler Briefs Seniors on Vocational Interviews

Mr. John Butler, Placement Office Director spoke on Job Interview Procedures at his talk last Thursday afternoon in the Chemistry Auditorium.

The Director told the seniors that the time has come for definite plans for the future. To help them do this Mr. Butler has suggested that they spend some time looking over books on various occupations which are in the reading room next to the placement office. The purpose of this is for the seniors to narrow their choice of occupational fields, so that when interviews with companies start, no time will be wasted with interviews that the individuals aren't interested in.

Even those students who are going into the Air Force after graduation were advised to make plans for the future. In this way the seniors can keep in touch with the various companies they are interested in while they are in the service.

Now is the time for all who are desirous of attending graduate school to start writing for applications. Catalogues for all the major graduate schools are in the aforementioned reading room.

Mr. Butler closed the twenty minute meeting with some general advice by covering such points as dressing conservatively, appearing neat, and promptness at interviews.

Peter Norman qualified for Phi Beta Kappa at the end of eight semesters, graduating last year with honors in Philosophy. He carried a double major, studying extensively in both the classics and philosophy.

Delta Phi Wins Seventh Annual Gismo Contest

BY LAIRD MORTIMER

Drawing a theme from Greek mythology, Delta Phi won the seventh annual Inter-fraternity Gismo Contest last Saturday. Pi Kappa Alpha took second place, and Theta Xi received honorable mention. The judges were: Mrs. Mitchell Pappas, Mrs. Norton Downes and Mrs. Michael Campo. The prize was awarded on the basis of originality, appearance and theme. Donated by Mr. John Cristakos, the cup was presented to Delta Phi by Hank Scheinberg, President of the I.F.C., at half time of the Coast Guard football game.

The theme of the winning effigy was an analogy between the destruction of a Coast Guard ship and the destruction of Ulysses' sailors upon the rocks by the Sirens. A lady Bantam was constructed hailing a sailboat upon the rocks with a Coast Guardman in it. A Trinity football player was hiding behind the rock on which the Bantam was standing. The boat rocked, the sail flapped and waves in front of the boat moved. In the background a recording of Yuma Sumac singing "Xtabay" was played.

Pi Kappa Alpha built a lighted movie marquee with "Coast Guard Crushed" in flashing lights. The show was a Dan Jessee production and starred Sticka, Nissi, Alexander and Binda. The sound track of a sports film was heard in the background.

"One more for the line" was the theme of Theta XI, who built a "Trino-matic" washing machine with a Coast Guard player being revolved inside. The machine was operated by a Bantam. The St. Lawrence Monk, the Tufts Jumbo, the Williams Football Player and the Bowdoin Bear were hanging on a nearby clothes line.

Alpha Delta Phi erected a large toilet bowl with a Bantam flushing a Coast Guard player down the drain. Water spurted and a tape recorded song was heard in the background as the player disappeared inside the "Trinity Bowl."

Atheneum Debaters Win First Contest

The Atheneum Society won its first intercollegiate debate of the season at Williams last week. The Freshmen lost.

For the past month the club's activities have been devoted to preparing the national topic, "The United States should extend diplomatic recognition to the Communist government of China." For the benefit of the new members Mr. John Dando, the club's faculty advisor and coach, held a series of classes on the purpose and technique of debate.

During the year Trinity will debate against such schools as Wesleyan, Amherst, New Britain Teachers College, and others. Trips will be taken to meet schools in the areas of Boston, New York, and Washington, D.C.

Members of the club this year are: George Kramer, president; Dick Wainman, corresponding secretary; Dave Rohlfing, business manager; Leland Jamieson, recording secretary; Keith Black, Joseph Kelley, Jim Streeto, Martin Stearns, Ted Brown, Jack Darcy, Pete Crombie, Leslie Chard, Bole Kaufhold, Franklin Kury, Richard Johnson.

Trinity Puts Coast Guard to Rout, Scoring Heavily in the Second and Fourth Periods to Take Fifth Triumph 42 to 6

Once Beaten Lord Jeffs to Feature Strong Attack Under Kisiel, Hildreth

This Saturday will probably reveal the biggest test to the Trinity grid team that they have faced or will face all season. Of course, the opposition will be the powerful Lord Jeffs of Amherst who were knocked from the unbeaten ranks by Tufts last week.

Accent on Running

The Amherst attack is built mainly on ground offensive with Bobby Kisiel and Bill Manly doing most of the heavy work. Quarterback Lee Hildreth does not feature an aerial attack although he is a very capable passer when the opportunity arises for him to show his talents. In Duffy and McFarlane, the Lord Jeffs have two of the best ends in the area.

Gene Binda Sparks Heavy Offense That Rolls Up 286 Yards on Ground

By IKE LASHER

After a very slow first period, the amazing Trinity gridders arose with fury in the second and final quarters to completely rout Coast Guard 42-6. The Hilltoppers scored 24 points in the 2nd period and 18 in the final.

Powerful Ground Offensive

In running up their fifth straight win, the Blue and Gold rolled up 286 yards on the ground and 61 in the air on two completions in four attempts. This was the third defeat for Coast Guard.

The first period was strictly a stalemate with Trinity unable to form a sustained drive and the visitors sticking to the ground without success.

Binda Begins Bedlam

The second quarter was bristling with action and Trinity was doing most of the offensive work. The first score came when Alexander passed to Binda from the Coast Guard 25 and the little scatback made a circus catch and toured into the end zone easily. Lentz' attempted conversion was wide to the right.

Binda's run (seen on the left) of some 30 yards set up the second Bantam score. Gene had run 60 yards for an apparent score on the preceding play only to have it called back for personal foul. After three plays failed from the two, Alexander snuck off right tackle into pay dirt. The conversion was again wide to the right.

Niness Scores

The ensuing series of downs brought still another Trinity score when on the third down reserve quarterback Bishop of the Cadets tried to throw a last minute lateral. He threw it all right, but Sam Niness intercepted it and galloped 58 yards into the end zone.

The Bantams continued to pour it on and late in the period they again scored. Marching to the Cadet 35 strictly on the ground, the Bantams shook George Kelleher loose and the speedy reserve halfback went into pay dirt for his first score. At the half Trinity led 24-0.

Coast Guard Registers

The third period again saw the Blue and Gold lag. Hollingsworth and his mates quickly took advantage of this and marched 45 yards with fullback Suski going in from the four. The conversion was wide to the right.

The fourth quarter was a runaway. Charlie Sticka opened the gate when he bulled and limped his way 34 yards across the goal line. The extra point again eluded Frank Lentz.

The final six-pointer was tallied late in the period by Dewey Taylor on an 18 yard charge through center.

New Rules Set In Intramurals

By JAMES CRYSTAL

At a meeting held last Tuesday evening, Karl Kurth and his athletic committee made some additions and changes in the rules.

These new rules, which will go into effect immediately, state that a team will get two points for each win, one point for each tie, and no points for a loss. Also put into effect was a rule that only the backs and ends are eligible for a forward pass.

The other new rule concerns the league playoffs on November 9th and 10th with the final playoffs either November 11th or 12th. It stipulates that in case of a tie at the end of regulation time, an eight play system would be used. A coin would be flipped with the winner getting possession of the ball at the fifty-yard line. If they are not able to score in one play, the other team will get the ball and try to score on their play. If they are unable to score the teams will alternate the rest of the eight plays. If neither team has scored at the end of the eight plays, the team which has the ball in the other team's territory will be declared the winner.

SN over TX

This week's football results in the National League were Theta Xi and DKE tied at 6-6, Alpha Theta forfeited to New Dorm B. Sigma Nu took Theta Xi by the margin of an extra point 7-6, and the Jaguars beat the DKE's 12-6. In the American League Delta Psi beat Alpha Chi Rho 14-6, and Alpha Delta Phi edged Psi Upsilon 7-0.

In tennis competition the Jaguars defeated Pi Kappa Alpha 2-1, Brownell shut out Sigma Nu 3-0, and Theta Xi edged Delta Kappa Epsilon 2-1.

Soccer Team Rolls to Fourth Win, Beating Worcester 5 - 0

Swanson Scores Twice More As Dathmen Have No Trouble

By PHIL TRUITT

With still a glimmer of hope left for winning the NESL crown, Roy Dath's spirited soccer team went after win number four last Saturday. The opposition was Worcester Tech and as it turned out the Bantams completely overwhelmed the visitors 5-0.

Attack Still Sloppy

Although the outcome was never in doubt, the game revealed the Bantams throwing away many scoring opportunities by holding the ball too long on the attack and also by trying to pinpoint their shots.

Trinity dominated the game throughout its entirety and took the lead early in the opening period. At approximately the 5:00 mark, the Bantams nailed their first score. A rebound off a Ken Swanson shot bounced out to the left of the Worcester nets where Dick Royston charged it and slammed the ball past the goalie for the score.

Swanson Registers

The second period saw the great Blue and Gold halfback line picking up the ball consistently and feeding to the offense. The second score came late in the quarter when Ken Swanson took a feed from George Lunt and although felled by the Tech left fullback, still managed to find the near corner of the nets with his shot. The half-time score was 2-0 for Trinity.

The third and fourth periods were very similar with the Bantams pressing all the way and containing the visitors in their own territory. Swanson registered the third score early in period three on a rebound shot and shortly afterwards Bert Schader looped in a pretty cross shot from 12 yards out on the right wing for his first score.

Doug Raynard added the finale on a pass from Swanson in the final period.

NESL Figures Show Dartmouth on Top

With approximately three-quarters of the New England Soccer League schedule completed, it appears as if Dartmouth is going to take the team title, but the individual scoring race has settled into a three man race.

Dartmouth Still Leading

The Indians from Hanover, N.H. now sport a 5-0 record for first place honors. M.I.T. is running second with a 4-0-1 record and Trinity is third with 4-1. Springfield, defending champs, were jolted by Williams 3-0 and now are in fourth position. Amherst and Yale are next in line respectively.

Dartmouth held down first place in the scoring race last week, but Ken Swanson of the Bantams has rallied to tie Stigum of the Indians for top honors with nine goals apiece. Waid of Dartmouth has eight scores and is in the race with the leaders for the crown. Doug Raynard of Trinity has now moved into fourth with five goals to his credit. Dartmouth and Trinity each have three games to play.

New Seating Plans

It was announced this afternoon that the cheerleaders have been seeking a new seating arrangement for the Amherst game that they hope will bring the school spirit to a peak.

Separate Sections

The proposed seating would have the fraternities, freshmen, and neutrals all located in individual sections. It would probably mean that three organizations would be seated in a section.

The idea is to arouse competitive cheering among the various sections. The arrangement for seating will be announced at the end of the week.

Roberts Leads Hoopsters in Opening Practice Sessions

Although the football season is still taking all the headlines in the world of sports, last Monday was the official opening for pre-season basketball training and Coach Ray Oosting had his charges out right on time.

Roberts Heads Squad

Heading the squad on the first day of practice was Captain Dave Roberts, Wes Eustis, Jack Barton, Jack Preissner, and Scotty Price. Several members of last year's freshman team were also out including Bob Godfrey, Nick Vincent, and Dick Salamon. Stan Lusnia, John Swett, Bob Shay, Fran Dugan, and Bill McGinn completed the squad.

The team went through light drills the first day and the work will increase with each practice. There are already three warmup games scheduled in the coming three weeks. Next Monday, the team plays Hamilton Standard Mfg. of the Industrial League and follows with contests against Springfield and the University of Bridgeport.

Several members of last year's squad will join the team at the termination of the football season and the team is expected to be intact within two weeks.

Halfback George Kelleher, who scored twice, is seen here as he picks up substantial yardage around the Coast Guard right end.

What makes a Lucky taste better?

to taste better!

What cigarette do college students go for? According to the latest, biggest coast-to-coast survey, students prefer Luckies to all other brands. And once again, the No. 1 reason is better taste. Of course Luckies taste better. First of all, Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. “It’s Toasted”—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies’ light, mild, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. Try a pack. Maybe you’ll be as fortunate as the student in the Doodle to the right, titled: Lucky smoker . . . faulty cigarette vending machine. Even if you’re not, you’ll enjoy the better-tasting cigarette . . . Lucky Strike.

CISL May Register As Pressure Group

BY PHIL ROGERS

During last Thursday's meeting of the Political Science Club John Morrison, Trinity's representative to the C.I.S.L., proposed one of the biggest possible developments to confront the group since its organization six years ago.

At the November 12th meeting of the C.I.S.L., a group of seventeen political science clubs from New England colleges, it will be decided whether or not that organization is to be turned into a registered lobby, or pressure group, in the Connecticut State government. If this were to happen the members of the C.I.S.L. would have an opportunity to draw up and submit bills to an actual legislature and thus gain valuable experience in dealing with political machinery. However, at Thursday's meeting, the Trinity Club decided to vote against the proposal because first, the Club here does not want other colleges speaking in its name on subjects which it does not favor; and second, if the C.I.S.L. did become a lobby, some colleges, such as St. Joseph's in Hartford, would have to drop out of the organization as their college policies do not allow such participation by its extra-curricular clubs.

drop with the letters "Trin" lighted upon it. At the bottom a Coast Guard cutter passed by on a wire as the waves moved. A recorded takeoff of the Coast Guard song was played in the background.

A theme of "Cream Coast Guard" was portrayed by Delta Kappa Epsilon, who constructed a seventeen foot Coast Guard tower with a Bantam on top pouring cream into a gigantic coffee cup in which a sailor was immersed.

Sigma Nu built a pirate ship with a Bantam forcing a Coast Guardsman to walk the plank. Smoke came out of the cannons and the names of defeated teams were written in the waves.

Delta Psi erected a toilet bowl with a destroyer submerged in it. A live rooster was caged behind the bowl and a sign read "Trinity Flushes Coast Guard."

Psi Upsilon had a Bantam flying over a sinking Coast Guard cutter, dropping a bomb on the broken ship. Smoke came from the ship and the record "Victory At Sea" was played in the background.

tration's idea of helping a minority group—big business—and expecting this aid to spill over the top to benefit the worker class, is a wrong one." Dodd assured the group that this nation was strong enough and wealthy enough to provide work for the 2,700,000 unemployed. He accused the Republicans of shaking their heads over this unfortunate situation and not working on any solution to the problem.

Upon being questioned about internal Communism, Representative Dodd had this to say, "The situation at present is a serious one for I believe that we have been hurting ourselves. One sign of this is Attorney General Brownell's request, before Congress, for legalized wire-tapping. The wire-tapping request was a poor one, for had it been granted, American freedom would have suffered a definite loss." Dodd claimed that there can be no doubt that there exists in America a Communist problem. He said, however, that it is a great pity that a man like McCarthy has the position that he does, for "a poorer lawyer couldn't have a better case. The actions of McCarthy and his committee have created a certain amount of doubt and fear for the first time in the minds of the free peoples of the world."

Dodd mentioned Senator Walsh, who conducted the hearings on the Teapot

Dome Scandal many years ago, as the type of person needed for the position. If the U.S. is going to lick this problem, Dodd warned, the government must proceed with a great deal of level headedness.
